

Tempting: Tan's Belgian chocolates.

Nice: Agape Home Deco offers a range of home products made from polyresin.

A bazaar with something for everyone

Crystals, chocolates and hair clips among the array

Story and photos
by ESTHER CHANDRAN
estherc@thestar.com.my

THE Le Tresor Festival Bazaar I is just the place to head to for a variety of items that are nice to see and own.

The bazaar at Lot 10 has everything that would appeal to women and for the home, for one.

Organisers Ismail Stork and Nik Rohani Ismail have 37 vendors participating in the fair held in conjunction with Visit Malaysia Year 2007.

"There are apparel, gemstones and accessories, pearls and jade, silver jewellery, handmade accessories, sleep wear, handbags, chocolates, garden and landscape features, home decorative items and a range of other interesting things," Stork said.

Laura Tan's Belgian chocolates or better known as Laura's Selection are certainly a sweet touch to the bazaar.

Tan started off making chocolates as a hobby after acquiring the skill from a Belgian chef in the United States while on holiday.

Today, her passion has moved on from a hobby to a profitable business, offering an array of delectable chocolates made from premium quality Belgian ingredients.

Pretty: Shinju Pearls has a host of designs that are versatile and can be worn differently on different occasions.

Eye-catching: Munirah's beads, coloured shells and pearls.

The Hi Magenta Illustration Bags from Thailand are another selection to look out for.

These functional, fun concept canvas bags are suitable for casual outings or can be slung on the shoulder with a strap in it.

Tang Yin Suh and Lionel Loong of Kissing Cats said the bags were designed by a Thai designer.

Kissing Cats also offers a selected range of Emma Gordon London bags priced from RM210 to RM269.

Not too far away from here are Suzanne Tham's floral hair clips.

There are roses, frangipani and orchid hair clips to choose from at the bazaar's corner.

Her neighbour is Connie Wan and she sells a range of cute pyjamas and attractive nightclothes.

Wan's sleep wear range is made from 100% cotton, imported from Japan but locally manufactured.

Those who fancy Japanese Noren curtains can find them at the bazaar.

Sensation Home Décor also has handmade decorative items like keyrings, fridge magnets, paper clips and washroom signage.

Different: Some of the items sold at Liu Li crystals.

Pretty: These floral hair clips are available at the Le Tresor Festival Bazaar I.

Munirah Mohamed gets creative in her little jewellery corner with beads, coloured shells and pearls.

Her interest in jewellery making started off to complement her family's batik business in Kelantan.

As for glamorous looking pearls, Shinju Pearls has a host of designs that are versatile and can be worn differently on different occasions.

Christina Toh said all necklaces, chains and bracelets were fully handmade with pearls from Sabah and Japan.

Liu Li crystals from China are another interesting buy as the colours of the crystals are believed to influence our emotions, actions and the way we respond to various people, things and ideas.

For example, purple symbolises royalty, magic and mystery, red denotes action, confidence, courage and vitality while pink is the colour you want for love and beauty.

The Agape Home Décor carries a range of home products made from polyresin that can float in water and add to the charm of your home.

The bazaar ends on May 6.

Thai product: Tang with a Hi Magenta Illustration Bag.